This course provides an overview of the culture of the Arabic-speaking peoples as reflected in language, history, politics, religion, the arts, and media. The course is intended to increase students' awareness of cultural and sociolinguistic issues in the Arabic-speaking countries. Students in this course will be introduced to various topics, including language and identity, nationalism, diversity, and colonialism. The course is 3-credits and will be taught in English.

Questions? Contact Prof. Soulaimani at dsoulaimani@sdsu.edu.