Course description

LING 305 is an advanced composition course intended for students who need support to function in written academic English at university, and professional settings.

In this course, you will learn to write a variety of academic and professional texts. You will use tools that will help you understand the types of writing typical of your academic and professional lives. You will also improve your ability to recognize and edit your written English. But most importantly, the course assignments are tailored to your own majors and career interests.

Who can take this course?

LING 305W is designed for immigrant students, students who speak languages other than English at home, and international students. LING 305W instructors understand your experience of speaking languages other than English and adapt their instruction accordingly.

What requirements does the course meet?

LING 305 meets the Upper Division writing requirement and the graduation writing assessment requirement for students who have completed 60 units.
